

SUIT ORDERED FOR SKYLINE ROUTE

CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS TO BE STARTED AT ONCE; S. F. CONTRACTOR GETS JOB BUILDING ROAD WALL IN VISITACION

That it will be necessary to condemn part of the right of way for the Skyline boulevard in San Mateo county was shown at the meeting of the board of supervisors in Redwood City Monday, when District Attorney Franklin Swart was instructed to start condemnation proceedings against the Christian and Doane properties in the north end of the county. The route through these properties was recently selected by the State Highway Commission. The supervisors adopted a resolution setting forth that public interest and necessity require the acquisition of these lands.

While the exact route of the Skyline boulevard south of the first ten miles has not yet been announced, it is reported that the Highway Commission and joint highway district representatives have reached a decision and mapped out a course, and that it will be announced soon. It is also reported that the route east of San Andreas Lake has been selected. The contract for a stone protecting wall on San Bruno road in Visitacion Valley was awarded to W. F. Donnelly of San Francisco. The amount of the successful bid was $2900.

Some 1500 claims against the county for the month of September were audited and approved. A claim of E. C. Cottier of San Mateo for plumbing and the San Mateo Planing Mill or lumber, both furnished the county farm, were referred to the county purchasing agent. A claim of the Abby M. Parrott estate for a refund of taxes was referred to the county tax collector.

The store of Mrs. Reighton at Lomita Park was designated as a branch county library on recommendation of County Librarian Edna Holroyd. Mrs. Reighton was appointed assistant librarian.

A report of the Social Service Commission was read and filed.

The sum of $1450 was transferred from the general fund to a fund for the oiling of San Gregorio road.

The board will meet again next Monday morning.

BRIDGE BOOSTERS OUTLINE PROJECT

Plan in All Its Details Laid Before Army Engineers Who, It Is Believed, Will Make Favorable Report.

A delegation of boosters for the Dumbarton bridge attended the meeting of United States army engineers in San Francisco last Friday and laid before the engineers, headed by Colonel Herbert Deakne, the entire project. The documents presented in support of the contention that the bridge is a much-needed improvement included the report presented by County Engineer George Kneese on instructions from the San Mateo county supervisors.

This report pointed out the most feasible location is about three-quarters of a mile south of the present Southern Pacific railroad bridge. It states that the length of the proposed bridge is three and one-quarter miles. The type of bridge Engineer Kneese recommended is reinforced concrete, a trestle with a 125-foot bascule drawbridge at the channel crossing. The report sets forth the extreme need of a bridge to relieve the pressure of traffic across the bay between San Francisco and interior California points, and also the need of more direct traffic between peninsula points and those in the interior, showing by a table the greatly reduced distances between San Francisco and interior points by way of the bridge compared with the present route to San Jose and then inland. The probable cost of the bridge was set at $1,250,000.

At this meeting the matter of a San Francisco to Oakland bridge was taken up, and the San Mateo delegation went on record as supporting this project, but urging that the Dumbarton bridge be constructed first. The speakers for the Dumbarton project included President J. J. McGrath of the Peninsula Bureau; Phil Thompson of the bridge committee of the Bureau; County Engineer George A. Kneese; Dr. C. V. Thompson, chairman of the county supervisors; Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, and Daniel C. Imboden, secretary of the Peninsula Bureau. It is believed that the Dumbarton project will receive favorable consideration from Colonel Deakne when he makes his report to Washington.

RACE KINGS TO MEET AT SPEEDWAY OPENING

Track Stars Sign Up for Opening of Huge Saucer at San Carlos.

The sale of life memberships in the Greater San Francisco Speedway Association has passed the 150 mark, according to an announcement made by Christy C. Loser, secretary of the association.

One thousand life members are expected to attend the opening day race at San Carlos on December 11th, when drivers from different parts of the country will race for purses totaling $25,000. Work on the big saucer is progressing rapidly, and the frame will soon rise.

According to Frew Morton, president, a 250-mile classic will mark the opening.

Jimmy Murphy, the San Francisco boy who won the celebrated Grand Prix race at Le Mans, France, several months ago, and who came second to Earl Cooper at Fresno, was the first driver with international reputation to be signed up by Morton. Eddie Hearne, the veteran speed star who won the honors at Cotati last August, has also been signed up. Earl Cooper, who staged a comeback in the racing game by winning at Fresno a week ago, will pilot a new French car, as will Cliff Durant, the millionaire sportsman and racing star. Practically all of the drivers who competed in the recent Fresno races have been signed up by Morton, who is now negotiating with Ralph De Palma and several other drivers now in the East.

Barney Oldfield, veteran kingpin of the track and the hero of hundreds of speedway duels, has notified Morton that he will be pleased to officially open the new speedway by putting on a 50-mile exhibition race.

OVERLAND CAR IS PUSHED OVER BANK

What is believed by local officers to be a stolen car was found Thursday morning at the water's edge near the tunnel just north of town. A clam digger who lives near by, and who sent word to the officers that the car was there, stated that he saw two men push the machine down over the embankment and then run away about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening. In spite of its fall of some forty or fifty feet the machine was in good condition, only one front wheel being broken. It was not stripped, and it is one theory that somebody was trying to wreck it for its insurance.

The car is an Overland touring auto with license number 327-317. The license tag inside the machine had not been removed and bore the name of Tony Sangfillito, 80 Manchester street, San Francisco. The officers were trying Thursday afternoon to locate Mr. Sangfillito.

Those present were the Misses Helen, Margaret and Mary Carmody, Mildred and Minnie Foley, Mary Lawler, Gladys Ryan, Helen Smith, Olga and Nellie Bortoli, Florence Robinson, Lillian Henderson Martha Prichard, and Amelie Fourcans, Mrs. William Doyle, and Mrs. B. McLoughlin.

FATHER KIDNAPS SONS, MENLO WOMAN CHARGES

Mrs. Mary Heavey of Menlo Park appeared before Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin Tuesday evening and swore out a complaint against her husband, Terence Heavey, in which she charges him with kidnapping their two sons, aged 5 and 10 years. The Heaveys have been separated for some time and the wife and children have been residing in Menlo Park and the husband in San Francisco, the custody of the boys having been awarded the mother by the San Francisco juvenile court, according to her statement to Judge Griffin, at the time the separation took place.

CHAMBER TO WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Committee Appointed to Interview Factory Heads; Report on Base Hospital Inspection Made.

A large number of members of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce attended the meeting of the Chamber held at the city hall Tuesday evening.

One of the features of the meeting was action taken on the unemployment situation. This came up through the reading of a letter from the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C., calling upon all Chambers of the country to co-operate, to the end that employment might be found for many men now out of work. It was pointed out that, as the Pacific Coast Steel Company's plant in this city is now working part time, the situation here is better than in many other places. A committee of three, F. A. Cunningham, E. C. Peck, and Phil Thompson, was appointed to interview factory officials again to urge that local residents be given the preference in taking on help.

Judge E. E. Cunningham, chairman of a committee that recently investigated the Base Hospital at Menlo Park, under the auspices of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce, reported that his committee had been well received by Major Wheat, the superintendent, and had made a thorough inspection of the institution, its workings and management. The report that was rendered was very favorable to the management.

A communication from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company stated the company was still busy on its survey of this territory with a view of putting in more equipment here and readjusting the toll charges between this city and San Francisco, and would make a report October 15th.

A letter from the Peninsula Bureau announced a meeting at San Carlos the evening of October 14th.

An invitation was received from San Mateo Post No. 82 for the local Chamber to enter a float in the Armistice Day celebration to be held at San Mateo November 11th. A committee, consisting of W. H. Coffinberry, F. A. Cunningham, and E. C. Peck, was appointed to report on the possibility of acting favorably on this invitation.

The need of better train service on the Southern Pacific between this city and San Francisco for the benefit of factory employees was brought up, and Secretary H. E. Smith, A. Hyndling, and Phil Thompson were appointed to see what could be done along this line.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to look into the references of C. J. Hurlie of San Francisco, who wished to establish a glass factory here, reported that Mr. Hurlie's references were all right, but that the invasion of the United States by foreign-made glass made this an unpropitious time to start this industry.

RED MEN WIN FROM SAN BRUNO, 5 TO 4

The Redwood City Red Men added another win to their long string of victories Sunday when they defeated the San Bruno Merchants at Highway Field by the close score of 5 to 4. This was the second game between the two teams, the first of which was played about two months ago, resulting in a win for the Merchants. "Lefty" Adams pitched a pretty game for the Red Men and was given gilt edge support by the other members of the Indian outfit, including Charlie Foley, who did the backstop work.

NOTED MURDER TRIAL CLOSED THURSDAY

HIGHTOWER'S FATE PLACED IN HANDS OF JURY AT 2:10 P. M.; SEVEN MEN AND FIVE WOMEN STILL OUT TWO HOURS LATER

Through the week public interest has centered keenly upon the superior courtroom at Redwood City, where William Hightower has been on trial for the murder of Father Heslin. The trial entered its final stages Monday.

One of the sensations of Monday's session was the positive identification of Hightower as Father Heslin's abductor by Marie Wendel, the murdered priest's housekeeper, who saw the man with whom the priest departed. Though the witness admitted she had first stated the night visitor was a foreigner she was, nevertheless, positive that she recognized the defendant's peculiar, high-pitched voice as that of the man who called at the house for the priest.

Hightower took the witness-stand Monday and overturned many of his former stories, substituting entirely new narratives. He brought in a new character, one Gray, whom he had known as Miller and by other names, and for whom, he declared, he purchased a tent so that the man could camp on the beach while hunting for a hidden cache of booze. Hightower admitted writing "tuberculosis" on the tent to frighten people away. He also told of his first meeting Doris Shirley Putnam and bringing her to San Francisco. He reiterated his story of the drive with the girl to San Jose the night of the abduction of the priest, the story the girl has flatly denied.

During the week handwriting experts have testified that Hightower's handwriting and that of the $6500 ransom letter are the same. Newspaper reporters testified as to the midnight expedition that found the murdered priest's body.

Tuesday afternoon Judge G. H. Buck cited Attorney Herron and Mrs. Catherine Denberry, a juror, for contempt of court because the juror came to court riding with Herron. The two declared Mrs. Denberry had missed a stage and Herron gave her a ride. Thursday the citations against the two were dismissed by Judge Buck, who stated he was satisfied Mrs. Denberry, at least, was not guilty of any willful wrongdoing.

There was no court session Wednesday, a holiday.

Thursday the closing arguments in the case were continued, Attorney Emmons addressed the jury first, District Attorney Swart following with his final summary.

Following Mr. Swart's address, Judge Buck instructed the jury and the case was then given to them. The five women and seven men in whose hands Hightower's fate was placed left the courtroom at 2:10 p. m., and at the time The Enterprise goes to press, late Thursday afternoon, are still out. The old habits of the courtroom as well as people who have followed the case closely are disinclined to prophecy as to the result, although there seems to be an undercurrent of belief that it will be a "hung" jury.

There is such a thing as traveling so fast that you never arrive, but it's hard to convince some automobilists of it.

Rent Free.

An actor-manager was being shown around a lunatic asylum. Seated under a tree in the garden was a man who was counting his fingers again and again, muttering: "Eency, meeny, miney, moe."

"Who is this?" asked the actor.

"A strange case, sir," replied the attendant. "We found him in the street. He's harmless, but hopelessly insane."

The actor looked at the lunatic closely, while the attendant moved away. "Bless my soul!" he exclaimed presently. "He resembles a former member of my company. Tell me, aren't you Bawl, the actor?"

"Cheese it," whispered the lunatic. "If they don't find me out I can stay here all the summer rent free."—Argonaut.

It makes a man feel pretty small to think that if he were to die today one of the chief worries of the rest of the force tomorrow would be how much they would be expected to contribute for flowers without appearing cheap.

Trusting Pastor Gives Collection for Bad Check

Riverside, Cal.—The pastor of a local church was taking a special collection. Eighteen dollars in small change had been received but $2 more was needed. After repeated pleadings by the minister a stranger arose and said:

"If you will cash my check I'll make it $20." The offer was accepted and the stranger departed with the entire collection.

That was Sunday evening. Next day the pastor reported to the police that the check had been returned marked "no funds." The stranger had disappeared.

RAILWAYS COSTLY TO FRENCH

When State System Takes in 100 France People Put Up 57 Francs.

Paris, France.—Charges that the French government usually suffers a loss in its business ventures were made in recent debates in parliament. It was asserted that the government's operation of the state railroad, post office, telephone and telegraph lines, the gasoline monopoly and its sale of American and French supplies left over from the war, were all unbusinesslike, and the cause of heavy balances on the wrong side of the ledger.

The state railroads' estimated deficit for 1921 is given in the budget as the equivalent of $59,450,000. "Every time the state railway receives 100 francs," says the senate public works commission, "the taxpayer must take 57 francs out of his pocket to balance the railroad's accounts."

Operation of posts, telegraphs and telephone calls, in the budget, for a deficit of about $44,802,000. Government trade in gasoline—a monopoly held over from the war—it was said in the chamber has been costing the state $1,125,000 monthly. The government has on hand eight months' supply, bought on a higher market and worth now on the world's market, according to oil experts, about $150,000,000 less than it cost.

When a nervous man has so much business he doesn't know what to do, he usually winds up his day by not doing much of anything and going out in his automobile.

KRUPP'S SCRAP MUNITION PLANT

Month After Armistice Army of 115,000 Employees Was Reduced to 40,000.

TAKE UP PURSUITS OF PEACE

Nowhere Else, in a Self-Contained Works, Has the Process of Turning Swords Into Plowshares Been on So Vast a Scale.

A feature of Krupp's works at Essen at the present time which struck Walter Meakin, writing in the London Daily News, is the scrooping of the huge extra equipment required for Hindenburg's munition program, which raised the number of employees from 42,000 to 115,000.

The whole of the works, with no less than 500 acres, or nearly a square mile of covered floor space, was concentrated entirely on production for the war, when, at the signing of the armistice, the vast organization of labor for destructive purposes suddenly collapsed.

The social portents in the Ruhr were sinister. Revolution was in the blood of the workers, and no one could forecast the development of the upheaval. Partly as a precautionary measure, partly to hurry on the task of adapting the works to new conditions, the staff was reduced to the 42,000 prewar strength within a month of the armistice. The additional workers, including all the women, were paid four weeks' wages and sent to their homes throughout Germany.

The position at this time was explained by one of the chief officials. "Although before the war," he said, "we manufactured other things, railway and shipping material, motor car parts, high-grade tool steels and so on, the production of guns, munitions and war vessels was the mainstay of the works. All that was irrevocably ended."

In the intervening two years the task of converting the arsenal to peace production has proceeded unceasingly, and still goes on. Nowhere else, in a self-contained works, has the process of turning swords into plowshares been carried out on so vast a scale.

Titanic Transformation Spectacle.

Under the supervision of the allied control commission the whole of the new shell and gun equipment in the mammoth buildings of the Hindenburg program has been made useless and thrown to the scrap heap. The most complete and spectacular transformation has taken place in one of these buildings. Within twelve months it was re-equipped with machinery for the mass production of locomotive goods and engines for the state railways.

From a balcony one looks down immense avenues of roaring machinery, and the whole scene, with hundreds of workmen busy at forge or lathe, or crowded about the assembling stands, is one of titanic enterprise. From the bays on the side come the plates and other heavy parts. From the other side flows a stream of machined parts, and in a wide central bay they come together at thirty-five assembling stands.

The normal rate of production with each engine and tender on the stand for nineteen days, would give, roughly, a daily output of one completed engine, but while the artisans are underfed and domestic troubles foster political discontent normal work is impossible. Nevertheless this engine shop presented the most impressive picture of industrial activity seen in Germany.

Make Costly Experiments.

In the famous cannon halls of previous years and in other parts of the works elaborate and costly experiments in the manufacture of textile and agricultural machinery, tractors and motor vehicles are being carried out, in the belief that the home market, which has been almost monopolized by America in the past, can be supplied by mass production methods.

This intense reorganization effort is only possible to a firm with a prewar capital of $60,000,000, and enormous reserves built up during the war. No dividend is being taken by the four or five holders of the capital.

Thousands of old employees, for whom there is little work, are kept on at full wages. All the resources are being staked in the attempt to carry the concern through the uncertain years which lie immediately ahead.

"If we go slack now," the officials say "there must be a crash. It may not be possible to avert it ultimately. Our workers have settled down more contentedly for the present, but if their privations continue a breaking point must be reached sooner or later."

"Also, if coal difficulties, high prices and the disastrous fluctuations of the exchange cannot be overcome a return to a healthy state of industry is impossible. Improvements must increase and productive effort will decline, even if the country is spared an extremist uprising. The whole situation is uncertain, artificial and unstable. We are simply going forward in the hope that final collapse may be avoided."

UNCLE SAM'S FUMIGATING VATS

SO RAPIDLY does the world move now-a-days, so numerous and varied are the wonders which are wrought by the ingenuity of our experts in various lines and so quietly is the work carried on, it frequently happens that the general public knows but little of the marvels that are among us.

For instance, down on the Texas border—at Laredo, to be exact—the United States Department of Agriculture operates a fumigating plant or vat which is sufficiently large to accommodate a train of fifteen freight cars at one time.

Freight cars arriving in the States from Old Mexico are infected with live, pink bollworm—a pest which feeds and devours the unripened pods of the cotton plant. If permitted to enter and scatter in this country, it would, provided it gained much headway, create losses running into the millions of dollars annually.

To prevent this loss and preserve the crop, therefore, such cars are unceremoniously shunted into these vats and the unwelcome bollworms aboard accorded a knock-out reception.

This plant resembles a long, brick shed. After the cars are received, the doors are closed and the plant is flooded with a gas, generated on the spot, the fumes of which are sure death to bollworms. At the end of an hour or more, the gas is drawn off, the cars removed and sent on their way and the plant is ready for the next incoming train.

Other similar, but smaller, plants are located at various coast points.

JOE LOPEZ HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM "WOMAN" BANDIT

Joe Lopez, truck driver for the Western Meat Company, had an experience Thursday evening of last week which, but for his shrewdness and strength of character in spurning feminine wiles, would undoubtedly have led to his having been robbed and probably beaten as well.

It happened at about 9 o'clock in the evening. Joe was on his way to his Baden avenue home and was within a few doors of his own domicile when he was accosted by a woman. The woman said good evening, and, on Joe's friendly response, invited him to accompany her. Her intended victim asked where she lived, and she pointed to a near-by house, but it happens that Joe has lived long in the neighborhood, knows everybody thereabouts, and she was not a neighbor. His suspicions were further aroused by the fact that, although the "woman's" face was veiled, her size and build was much more like that of a man masquerading in skirts. When Joe showed an inclination to move, the supposed "woman" seized him and began feeling in his pockets, whereupon Lopez broke away and ran to his home. From his own doorstep he saw the supposed woman get into a machine that came up and in which several men were sitting. There seems little doubt that the "woman" was a man bandit operating in skirts.

Unprofessional Advice.

"Doctor, I want to tell you about my husband," said the patient's wife. "He complains of shortness of breath. You know he wears tight vests and pants when he goes upstairs."

"Vests and pants?" exclaimed the doctor, who was something of a purist. "Tell him to wear waistcoats and trousers."—Judge.

SEEKS BIBLE TIME CHARIOTS

Doctor Fisher of the University of Pennsylvania Will Delve in Ruined Cities of Holy Land.

Philadelphia.—Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, curator of the Babylonian section of the University of Pennsylvania museum, left here for Palestine to undertake what he described as one of the most important excavations ever made in the Holy Land and the first since the beginning of the World war. He expects to find among other things some of the iron chariots mentioned in the Bible which prevented the children of Israel from capturing Bethshan, near which city some of the greatest battles of early history were fought.

Bethshan is near Nazareth, close to the Mount of the Transfiguration. It has been uninhabited for centuries.

THEY DO SPEED

If by chance you imagine that our American women are lacking in speed, your imagination is clearly at fault.

Speed is one of their many long suits. In fact, they are becoming so speedy the men are gasping in amazement and consternation over the possibilities of the next fifty years.

Only a few years ago we laughed at the "absurd idea" of any woman ever being allowed to vote or hold public office on a par with men. But they are doing it now, and it doesn't seem to have sent either the country or the people to the bow-wows.

Now the women are preparing to have congress amend the constitution in such a manner that they will be given equal rights and privileges and be placed on a par with man in every respect and in all things. In other words, if they are successful in their present undertaking the matter of sex will disappear entirely so far as it relates to rights, privileges and responsibilities.

That would mean the eligibility of women to become mayors, governors, congressmen, senators, judges, and even president of the United States.

No doubt the opposition will do some more laughing at their "presumption," but the laughter will not be so long, or loud, or hearty.

Because, you know, we have the most charming, intelligent and progressive women in the world, and when they make up their minds to do a thing they just simply speed up, and—it's done.

THE PRESIDENT COULD DO IT

If the coming winter is as severe as has been predicted the distress of the unemployed and their families will be acute.

This fact is so manifest that the president of the United States, with all of his cares and burdens, deems it necessary to take a personal interest in the plans for affording necessary relief. Believing that the president has an open mind, we presume to offer a suggestion.

Let him issue a proclamation calling upon all of the people of our country who own motor cars to set aside one Sunday in a month to be known and observed as gasless Sunday, and to be continued until there is no longer a necessity for its observance. In other words, let every car remain in its garage that day and night.

Then let the owners of the cars voluntarily contribute the price of the gas and oil they thus save that day toward a fund for feeding the hungry and furnishing warm clothes for those who are unable to procure them. Let the enormous sum thus realized be turned over to the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America for distribution when and where it is most needed.

We suggest distribution by these two organizations because they are in close and constant touch with the poor and distressed, and are, we believe, better fitted for the work than any of the numerous charitable organizations.

Keeping a car idle on Sunday would work a hardship on no one—assuming, of course, that doctors, undertakers, etc., would be exempt where necessity arises for the legitimate use of a car.

The contributing of the gas and oil thus saved would not be an expense to the car owner, as he would simply be contributing the amount for the relief of distress instead of burning it up on the road.

A Sunday at home might be refreshing to millions of people who are always on the move. An hour at church might be both refreshing and beneficial.

The president can do it—if he will.

It would be a small-minded citizen indeed who would not respond to so laudable and reasonable a request from the most exalted ruler in the world.

WAITING ON GEORGE

"Let George reduce prices first. I want a few more pickings."

That is the attitude of the average man in business today, nearly three years after the armistice. It is the reason why we are in the midst of a period of abnormal business depression. It is the reason why six millions of our men are out of employment. It is a condition which neither congress nor the government appear able to correct. It is the attitude of the dog in the manger.

This country is made up of producers, transporters, wholesalers, retailers and consumers. The consumer wants to see a reduction in the price of every commodity except that which he himself produces and offers for sale. On the latter he clings to his high prices.

Railroad officials want to force a reduction in wages and salaries upon their employees, but do we see a desire on the part of any of these high officials to make a corresponding reduction in freight rates or their own swollen salaries?

The manufacturer clings tenaciously to the last penny of his profits, yet he is strong for reducing the cost of raw materials he buys and for cutting the wages of his own employees.

The retailer is keen for pulling down prices in the wholesale markets, yet he loses no sleep in his efforts to reduce his own.

The salaried man, those in the professions and the wage-earner are just yearning for an opportunity to buy their food, clothing and all of their other necessities for less money, but they resist even the suggestion of a curtailment of their own incomes.

In fact, none of us are exempt, speaking as a class. We are all tarred with the same brush. We are perfectly willing, even anxious, to have George do the cutting and slashing of prices, but when it comes to hitting the toboggan ourselves we simply can't see it. Therefore, no one sees it—except under the compulsion of necessity.

Every fellow wants to continue selling the product of his hands or his brains at a high price, but most of us have concluded that we will shut down on spending until prices in other lines reach a lower level. In other words, everybody is virtually on a buying strike against everybody else but himself.

The result is very little buying—very little demand for production—a tremendous shrinkage in the demand for labor. Because of this shrinkage six millions of men are out of employment.

The remedy is in our own hands. When we are willing to see the light of reason and accept a general scaling down of our own prices along with those of others, the purse strings of the people will be loosened, normal buying will be resumed, the unemployed will be summoned back to their work, and prosperity will be with us again. But as long as we all wait for George to do it it will not be done.

A New Zealand authority asserts that Japan is planning to take Australia and then step over and annex the United States. But don't let it disturb your peace of mind. We'll have plenty of time to down a few more chicken dinners before we have to kowtow to the little brown mikado.

The man who is true to himself is never a traitor to others.

HOW ISRAEL PUTNAM OUTWITTED THE INDIAN "BEAR"

In 1758, while General Lyman's army was encamped near Fort Edward, N. Y., during the French and Indian war, sentinels at one outpost began to disappear mysteriously. Night after night a soldier was posted there and the next morning could not be found.

Only the bravest men in the army were selected for this post. General Lyman gave orders for them to call out "Who goes there?" three times, if they heard any noise, and then if no answer came, to fire. But the disappearances continued until his men were panic-stricken and refused to take such a dangerous station.

At last Israel Putnam, a member of Major Rogers' rangers, volunteered to go on guard at that place and solve the mystery. One hot summer night he heard a rustling in the leaves nearby. The sounds were those of an animal scuffling about on the ground for food and, peering through the darkness, Putnam saw by the faint starlight a huge creature, which he recognized as a bear, slowly shambling toward him.

Something in the bear's gait aroused the scout's suspicion. Putnam obeyed the general's orders. He challenged three times and then fired. A loud growling and struggling noise followed and when the scout rushed forward he found the bear in its death agony. Then he turned the animal over. Enclosed in the shaggy skin, still clutching a tomahawk but stone dead, lay a giant Indian.

The mystery was solved. The other sentinels had believed it was a real bear they heard and allowed the daring warrior to get near enough to use his tomahawk before they learned their mistake. No more sentinels disappeared.

Some time after this event, Putnam was captured by the Indians, who started to burn him at the stake. Just as the flames began to scorch his buckskin garments, a heavy rain began to fall and put out the fire. The savages collected more dry wood and again began the torture. But again they were fooled.

A French officer appeared upon the scene, dashed through the ring of flame, kicked the blazing brands right and left and released the scout, telling the Indians that he must send Putnam to Montreal to be questioned by General Montcalm. Putnam was held in Canada until an exchange of prisoners allowed him to return to his home and he lived to become a famous general in the Revolution.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

YEOMEN LODGE HOLDS BANQUET AT TAVERN

Nearly 200 Sit Down to Repast; Gifts Presented to Officers.

Tuesday evening, Homestead No. 910, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, met at the Bellevue Tavern to hold its annual banquet in which over 160 Yeomen and guests participated. The large hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with the colors of the order, while immediately back of the retiring foreman and the Lady Rowena the stars and stripes were prominently displayed. The tables were beautifully set with flowers.

Shortly after 8 p. m. the retiring foreman, Phil Clark, with Mrs. Clark, the retiring Lady Rowena, led the way to the banquet hall. All present did ample justice to the feast, during which music, songs, and speeches were enjoyed.

Mrs. Barnet was first called upon by Toastmaster Bob Liddle, the incoming foreman of the homestead, and sang two solos, which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. Barnet has a particularly attractive voice and won hearty applause. The Yeomen quartet, Messrs. Mueller, Osborne, Empey and Ludwig, gave several numbers which took their audience by storm. Mrs. Holliday gave a recitation, which proved her a pleasing entertainer.

Toastmaster Liddle called upon the following members and guests, all of whom made short speeches: Phil Clark, retiring foreman; Bob Liddle, incoming foreman; Les Empey, master of ceremonies; Harry Gray, chaplain; A. McSweeney, T. C. Rice, Dr. F. Holmes Smith, A. S. W. Grundy, Mrs. Elizabeth Nash, Mrs. Cora Eber-sole, district deputy; City Trustee J. T. O'Connor, Mrs. Storer, Peter Bollinger, Mr. Reilly, and G. A. Helmore. On the conclusion of the speeches County Tax Collector McSweeney, on behalf of the Yeomen, presented Phil Clark with a handsome shaving outfit, with a few eulogistic remarks on his successful term of office. Dr. F. Holmes Smith in appropriate words presented the retiring Lady Rowena, Mrs. Phil Clark, with a gold emblem brooch of the order, to which she suitably replied. Peter Bollinger presented Mrs. Liddle with a magnificent bouquet of flowers as a token of appreciation from members of the order for her valuable services as pianist which have done so much to make the weekly meetings enjoyable. To the secretary, Mrs. Alice Laumeister, he presented on behalf of her many friends in the order an elegantly worked couch cover. Mrs. Laumeister has been correspondent since the homestead was inaugurated some fourteen years ago, and her services have proved invaluable. Mrs. Phil Clark presented her friend, Mrs. Rusic, who during the past year has filled the important position of Lady Rebeca, a fine jet necklace and earrings as a token of appreciation of her cheerful help on all occasions. On the conclusion of the banquet the hall was cleared for dancing, the music being furnished by a special orchestra of seven members from San Francisco.

This auspicious event, which brought to a close a year's work by an organization that has proven of incalculable value to San Bruno, ended shortly after 1 a. m. when every one paid respects to Mr. and Mrs. Clark, who have successfully filled the important duties of foreman and Lady Rowena of San Bruno Homestead No. 910.

MEASURING PARTY IS A VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The "measuring party" given by the ladies of St. John's Evangelical Church last Saturday evening met with well-deserved success. Carpenter's Hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and after the rendering of the program, which was outlined in full in last week's issue of this paper, refreshments of coffee and cake were served. A good sum of money was taken in by the Ladies' Aid.

LOCALS

Mrs. Hunter of Lomita Park will give a whist party at her home the evening of October 22d.

Mrs. Rider returned to Santa Cruz Thursday after a few days' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grady.

On account of Columbus Day, the city trustees held their regular meeting Thursday evening instead of Wednesday.

Jenevein avenue during the present week has been leveled to grade and communication between San Mateo avenue and the state highway much improved.

A bazaar in aid of the building of the contemplated new home of St. John's Evangelical Church will be given at Carpenter's Hall, November 4th and 5.

According to Mr. Wahl, there is a good prospect that San Bruno Park will be able to dispose of its bonds, and thus be in a position to go ahead with the macadamizing of its streets.

A whist party will be given at Carpenter's Hall Saturday evening for the benefit of the baseball team. The proceeds will be used for the purchase of some much-needed equipment.

A rumor has been going around town that Judge Buck had issued a mandate for the recall election, but on inquiry at the city hall, City Clerk Nettie Willits states she has not been notified, though a similar story had reached her.

President Hatch of the local bank approached the city trustees Thursday with a proposition to purchase California Hall for a city hall. His proposition is that its value shall be fixed by two appraisers, one appointed by the city, the other by the bank, and that the terms can be arranged as may best suit the financial interests of the city. The proposition in all probability will be put up to the citizens of San Bruno to express their views.

The Daddies' Club met Monday and laid plans for increased activity in the near future, and formed a special committee to devise ways and means by which it could influence for good the lives of the young folk of San Bruno and give them the advantages of healthy recreation and some place where they can gather and be made welcome. A tennis court is about to be provided for them, which should prove popular, as the nearest court is in Lomita Park. Mr. Nasits was admitted to membership.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE

COMMENCED IN 1870 and opened for traffic in May, 1883, this world-renowned structure cost the at-that-time unthinkable sum of $15,000,000. Its extreme length approximates a mile and a half and its overall width is 86 feet.

It spans the East river, which connects Long Island sound and New York bay between Manhattan island, on which New York city proper stands, and Brooklyn on Long Island, and carries one of the densest and most heterogeneous streams of traffic in the world.

The calsson on the Manhattan side measures 102 by 172 feet and the foundation goes down 78 feet below high-water mark, while the tower measures 59 by 140 feet at high-water line, is 272 feet high and contains approximately 47,000 cubic feet of masonry.

The bridge is suspended from four cables, strung between the towers—the calculated weight of the structure and its load being in the neighborhood of 15,000 tons. Each cable is made up of 5,296 galvanized-steel, oil-coated wires wound into a single strand which measures 15½ inches in diameter and is 3,578½ feet long.

The center of the river span has a clear height of 135 feet above the surface of the river at high-water stage. The floor space of the bridge is divided into five avenues or passageways—the center space being arranged for foot passengers, on either side of which are spaces for trolley tracks, while each outside space is set aside for the accommodation of vehicular traffic.

If you ask, "What do I get out of it?" before you ask yourself, "What can I put into the job?"—you will get out of it.

Nature, of course, is wonderful, but not so showy as some of the improvements the girls have made upon her.

NOTIZIE DALLA CONTEA IN ITALIANO.

LA CAUSA DI HIGHTOWER S'AVVICINA AL SUO FINO

Il pubblico interesse ha seguito intensamente la causa di Hightower. Ogni giorno l'aula della corte e' stata affollata. Essendo stato Mercoledì, giorno festivo, non vi fu perciò nessun andamento della causa.

Il punto più forte, il quale è stato fatto dalla prosecuzione e' quello di aver provato, per mezzo di esperti calligrafisti, che la lettera chiedente un'indennità per il ricovero del Padre Heslin, le cifre della tenda trovata sulla spiaggia ed altre specie di calligrafia erano proprietà di Hightower, e la testimonianza di Doris Shirley Putnam che essa non era con Hightower la sera dell'uccisione del Padre Heslin, quantunque questi avesse giurato di essere andato con essa in San Jose la medesima sera.

La difesa ha questionato l'abilità degli esperti calligrafisti nel trovare l'identità della calligrafia ed ha dichiarato che la testimonianza della Signora Putnam non deve essere presa sul serio essendo questa stata provata immorale ed indegna di fede.

Hightower fu posto in interrogazioni Martedì e dette un lungo ed elaborato racconto dei suoi movimenti previ al suo arresto, ne sotto l'incrociato esame del procuratore distrettuale Swart, si trova' contraddetto diverse volte.

La difesa fa tutti gli sforzi sul fatto che ogni evidenza e' sostanziale e la prosecuzione fuori di convincimento.

Argomenti finali furono fatti Giovedì ed il caso andò alla giuria nel pomeriggio.

Il Giudice Buck creò una sensazione Martedì citando di corruzione l'avvocato Herron ed il giurato Signora Denny.

La Signora Denny venne alla corte nell'automobile del Herron dicendo di aver perduto l'automobile passeggeri.

LA LEGIONE DI SAN MATEO TERRA' UNA GRANDE CELEBRAZIONE

Una grande celebrazione sarà tenuta in San Mateo il giorno dell'Armistizio sotto gli auspici della Legione Americana di quella città.

Un elaborato corteo al mattino, con molti divertimenti sportivi nel pomeriggio.

LA CAMERA DI COMMERCIO AIUTERA' IMPIEGARE I DISOCCUPATI

La Camera di Commercio di South San Francisco si accaparrò la causa della disoccupazione alla sua riunione di Martedì sera ed un comitato fu appunto per intervistare le fabbriche acciocché queste diano lavoro ai residenti locali nel modo il più possibile.

Il Giudice E. E. Cunningham rapporto che il comitato, del quale ne era il capo, ha ispezionato il Base Hospital a Menlo Park e tutto fu trovato soddisfacente.

Ad un invito dalla Legione Americana di San Mateo d'entrare con un float nel grande corteo indetto dalla medesima in San Mateo il giorno dell'Armistizio, fu formato un comitato per considerare la questione.

Una lettera dalla compagnia telefonica dichiara che questa sarebbe pronta verso il 15 Ottobre di riportare sulla possibilità di dare a South San Francisco una più bassa rata sulle chiamate da South San Francisco a San Francisco.

I SUPERVISORS RIUNITI IN REDWOOD CITY

I supervisors della contea tennero riunione in Redwood City Lunedì con una corta sessione nella quale affari di poco importanza furono discussi.

Un punto d'interesse presentato fu quello d'intentare causa per condannare la proprietà al nord ovest della contea per il boulevard dello skyline. Il procuratore distrettuale fu incaricato d'iniziare la causa.

A. W. Donnelly di San Francisco fu affidato il contratto per un muro di protezione sulla strada di Visitation Valley, essendo la sua spesa di costruzione di $2900.

Circa 1500 richieste contro la contea per il mese di Settembre furono ordinate pagate.

I supervisors si riuniranno Lunedì venturo.

SPINNER'S SIZE REGULATES BETS

Fat Man, Big Numbers Win;
Thin Men, Small Numbers,
Is One System.

"KILLINGS" LIVEN CASINO

Heavy Losses at Monte Carlo Prove Big Card for Advertising—Many Systems Offered the Gullible
—Yet Casino Continues to Make Profit.

London.—There is one infallible way of winning money at Monte Carlo, writes a correspondent of the London Times, and that is this: When a fat man is spinning the wheel bet on the high numbers; when it is a thin man bet on the low. It stands to reason—does it not?—that a small man cannot throw big numbers. Another good plan is to put your stake in front of you, shut your eyes and push it out on the table with a rake. The god of chance, being blind, naturally likes blind people. Which also stands to reason, does it not? There you have the whole philosophy of roulette.

Of course there are people who tell you that you have no right to begin to gamble until, at least, you know the order of the numbers, both on the wheel and the table, by heart. Otherwise, how can you tell the volans—the neighboring numbers—to the last throw but one, so that you can know where the ball is coming back to?

Also you can buy elaborate and infallible systems, which makes no mention of fat men or thin men, at fifty francs in Monte Carlo. For forty francs you can buy a system which tells you how, on a capital of £20, you can make—"infallibly"—£10 a day. There is another, much sold, which offers you 1,000 chances to win against one chance to lose.

Casino Always Wins.

Others guarantee—well, nearly guarantee—a winning of from 500 to 1,000 francs a day, and there are any quantity of systems under which "losses" are "impossible." Yet, in spite of it all the Casino is one of the most successful business institutions in Europe, and will doubtless weather even the difficulties of the exchange and the rise in the cost of living.

Three days ago there a man won, at one of the tables, 37,000 francs at a single coup. The rules, it should be explained, forbid a larger stake than will produce more than 6,000 francs at a single bet. But, having staked the limit on an individual number, you can also lay bets—each to the limit—on the various combinations of that number as well as on the "color," the high or low, odd or even, the "dozen"—whether the first, second or third of thirty-six numbers—and so forth.

I am told, but I have not calculated it, that it is thus possible to win over 80,000 francs on a single turn of the wheel. But 37,000 is good enough and the friend who had seen it and told me added: "And that loss of 37,000 will be worth 370,000 to the house." He probably underestimated it.

As it was three days ago, the man who won the money has probably lost it again by now and in any case the fame of it has gone far abroad and brought any number of new gamblers to the table. It is by such advertisements that the Casino thrives.

They Keep at It.

Almost every year new books telling you how to win at Monte Carlo are published. Every year series of charming articles are written for one journal or another analyzing various "systems." One presumes that the writers receive no payment from the Casino for their labor. But how handsomely it could afford to pay them! There is surely no money making institution in the world which gets so much and such admirable free advertisement as the Societe des Bains de Mer (as the proprietary organization is called) of Monte Carlo.

The one cardinal and dominant fact is that there is always one extra chance in 37 against the better. The odds are 19 to 18 in favor of the house. With absolutely even luck, in every 37 bets you will lose one more than you will win. The odds are all calculated on the basis of the thirty-six numbers on the table, and the thirty-seventh number (zero) is the perquisite of the establishment. With this qualification the game is absolutely fair.

Few sane men, I think, suspect the Casino of cheating. It does not need to. That thirty-seventh chance—which is no chance, but a certainty—is sufficient. It operates inevitably; as remorselessly as "the blind Fury with the abhorred shears" does at the end of the life of each of us.

The tables in the various salles in the Casino and the Sporting club do not all run for the same hours. Also some of them are for trente et quarante and not for roulette. But I believe it is fair to say that the result is about equivalent to twenty-one tables at roulette running for ten hours a day. At all events the rough calculation will suffice.

How It Figures Out.

Now, the time taken by each turn of the wheel, with the necessary settlements, is about three minutes; or it has been when I have timed it in these last days. That is to say that on one or other of the 21 tables seven coups are being cleaned up every minute. The house wins one bet in every 37; and it is, again, not unfair to reckon that same number—37—as the average number of bets on every table, taking the two ends together. There may be only 10 or 200. But 37 is not an unjust average. Therefore, if seven tables clear up each minute, in each minute the house is seven bets to the good.

The average unit staked is impossible to guess. The bets range all the way from the humble 5f. white counter to (rarely) the permitted limit of six plaques of 1,000f. each. But whatever the average unit is, the Casino wins it seven times over every minute, or 420 times every hour, or 4,200 times each day.

So far as the individual is concerned that 37th chance—the pesky zero—may not operate to his disadvantage in a long sitting, and if luck is with him he will win. Or it may operate so actively as to ruin him in half an hour. But regarding the public as a single better, that better is roughly losing regularly to the tables 4,200 units (subject to more accurate calculation) every day in the year.

It has to be so. The Casino, with all its adjuncts, is an immensely costly institution to support. Besides its own upkeep it provides the money which makes Monte Carlo the most beautifully ordered and most luxuriously appointed town in the world. The dividends of the Societe, over and above all this, are no secret. And the public has to pay for it all. Against that inexorable 37th chance no system is of any avail, except for the fun of working at it and for the pleasure of self-deception. Even the fat man and the thin man are powerless.

GIRL, 4, FALLS 50 FEET, LIVES

Slips Through Fourth Floor Fire Escape—Bumps Her Head and Knee.

Brooklyn.—Little Ruth Sader, four, escaped death in a remarkable manner when she fell from the fire escape on the fourth floor of her home to a concrete sidewalk and suffered only a bump on her head and contusions of the knee.

She was carried to the Norwegian hospital, where she regained consciousness within a half hour; but a little later she complained of pains in the abdomen and became delirious. It is not believed, though, that the internal injuries are serious.

Ruth was visiting her playmate, Elizabeth Baerfeldt, three, in the next apartment. The fire escape crosses the front windows of both apartments.

Ruth went to Elizabeth's home by her customary route, the front fire escape. The Teddy Bear was big and cumbersome, and Ruth tripped and fell through an opening. She struck the fire escape between the fourth and third floors, and bounded out into space.

AMERICAN HELPS FRENCH ART

Two New Bursaries for Artists and Writers Are Announced by Mme. George Blumenthal.

Paris.—Two new bursaries for French artists have been announced by Mme. George Blumenthal, the American founder of the American foundation for French art and thought.

Each of these like the ten funds already being distributed, is for 12,000 francs yearly. They represent the income from invested funds given by Mrs. Blumenthal and other Americans.

One of the new funds to encourage painting is in the name of Henry Frick. The other, devoted to science, is to be called the "Joffre" bursary. It is endowed by an American who asked that his name be withheld.

When Mme. Blumenthal made formal announcement of the extension of the foundation's work to Marshal Joffre, he began an expression of "gratitude." Mme. Blumenthal, who is of Alsatian ancestry, replied: "Monsieur le Marechal, do not speak of gratitude. We love each other, that is all."

"Mock" Marriage No Joke.

Franklin, Ky.—Miss Grace McCabe and Wiley Bass of Woodbury have worked side by side for three weeks ignorant of the fact that they were man and wife. They were married at a mock wedding, but friends made it realistic by getting a regular marriage license and having the ceremony performed by a magistrate. The return to the license clerk completed the record, and then they were informed they were married.

Dark End to a Black Wedding.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Ora Cue, man milliner, has filed suit against Warren R. Whitmer for $15,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections. Whitmer and Mrs. Cue were married three days after she obtained a divorce. When Cue and his wife were married several years ago the ceremony was performed in a room especially decorated in black jet, including the walls, and the couple wore black costumes.

Gives Birth to Three Husky Heifers and Bull.

Belmont, Ia.—Four husky calves—three heifers and a bull—all doing nicely and able to take and obtaining nourishment from the original source, is the contribution toward reduction in the price of meat, butter and milk offered the world recently by a cow owned by Ralph Christie, farmer here.

Last year the cow gave birth to twin heifers.

WOMEN PLAN TO FIGHT TAX ON MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

If a reliable report of activities now under way discloses anything at all, it predicts that our representatives will be buried under a veritable deluge of mail at the opening session of congress on September 21st, when nearly five million letters, vigorously protesting against a proposed discriminatory tax on all musical instruments, will have been received by the various congressional delegates.

These letters, penned individually by the five million members of the National Federation of Women's Clubs and its allied organizations, and couched in the particular style of each writer, will contend that the levying of such a tax on musical instruments would place music in the luxury class and, in so doing, would create a serious menace to the development and prosperity of music in America.

The National Federation of Women's Clubs is probably the most powerful and influential organization of women in the United States. Its members, aroused by the news that congress would even deign to consider such an obviously destructive measure, are keeping vigilant eyes on Washington as a precaution.

Not Exactly.

Aunt Jane, who was a spinster, came to visit her sister and family of four children. And from the very first auntie was very much given to offering advice to her sister on the way to feed, dress and treat her children generally. The sister listened in perfect good humor, but not so Sally, her efficient helper. And frankly, Sally said so. "Look here, Miss Jane," she began, "what do old maids like you and me know about raisin' children? We ain't never had none and a person has to have children to know how to raise them."

Aunt Jane smiled a tolerant smile.

"Oh, not always, Sally," she returned. "Now take those little chickens out there. Don't you think you know more than their mother. You feed—"

But Sally interrupted her. "Yes, ma'am, I feed them, if that's what you mean. But I hain't never yit taught any of them to scratch—have I?"—Indianapolis News.

COURTED THEM OFF THEIR FEET

Remarkable Story of Lydia Southard, Said to Have Had Five Husbands.

FOUR MEET SUDDEN DEATHS

Now Woman Is Charged With Murder of Number 4 and Will Be Tried in Montana—Present Husband Remains Loyal to His Wife.

San Francisco.—"She swept the men of her choice off their feet—courted them so persistently that they could not escape."

That's the way V. H. Ormsby, a deputy sheriff of Twin Falls, Idaho, describes the romance of Mrs. Lydia Southard, under arrest at Honolulu on a charge of murdering Ed Meyers of Twin Falls, her fourth husband.

Mrs. Southard denies the charges and says she can satisfactorily explain the deaths of her former husbands. She told officials she believed she was a "typhoid carrier," and that this may have been responsible for some of them.

"Take poor Ed Meyers, for example," says Deputy Sheriff Ormsby. "He was the woman's fourth husband. In 1920 he was running a little ranch out near Twin Falls, when Lydia came home after Harlem Lewis, husband No. 3, had died in Montana and she had collected $5,000 in insurance."

"She rigged herself out to kill, bought a long mink coat and a closed car. Everybody in town was talking about the way she ran around to dances."

"She courted Ed right off his feet. Well, in August she and Ed were married after he took out a $10,000 insurance policy. In September Ed died."

"The townsfolk weren't just satisfied. They started a lot of talk and the insurance company held up payment on the policy."

She Didn't Worry.

"But Lydia didn't seem to be worrying. After Lydia left Twin Falls late in 1920 she met Southard, a petty officer on the U. S. S. Chicago at a dance. Later they were married, and when Southard was transferred from San Francisco to Honolulu he took his bride along. He's still loyal to his wife."

The marital experiences of the one-time Missouri country town girl eclipse even those of fiction. Ten years ago while still in her teens she was living on a farm of her father, William Trueblood, about two miles from Keytesville, Mo.

Following the opening of new irrigated territory in Idaho, Trueblood moved his family to a section near Twin Falls. Robert Dooley, a school-day sweetheart of Lydia, and his brother, Edward, followed soon after, and settled near the Trueblood farm.

Married to Dooley.

In 1920 Robert Dooley took Lydia, then twenty, into Twin Falls one day and the two were married. Edward went to live with them.

One day Edward Dooley became ill. Within a few hours he was dead. Lydia explained that he had eaten salmon from a can that had stood open for some time. Lydia and Robert Dooley accompanied the body back to Keytesville for burial and folks in the home town got their first glimpse of baby Laura Marie, daughter of Lydia.

About three weeks after Lydia and her husband returned to Twin Falls, Robert Dooley died. Three weeks later baby Laura was dead.

Mrs. Dooley collected $4,500 on insurance that had been carried by the brothers and a short time later was married to William McHaffie.

The two went to Montana to live and settled on a ranch. McHaffie took out a $500 insurance policy and made one payment on it. In a short time he died, but when Lydia went to collect the insurance she found that the policy had lapsed a few days and the company refused to pay it.

In June, 1919 Lydia married Harlem Lewis, an automobile salesman, with whom she had become acquainted in Montana. One month later, on July 6, Lewis died from what doctors said was ptomaine poisoning, and Lydia collected $5,000 in insurance.

Following the death of Lewis, Lydia returned to Twin Falls, where she met and married Myers, husband No. 4.

WOMAN IS MINUS STOMACH

Organ Not Needed, Says Doctor Pancho, French Specialist, if Diet Is Properly Regulated.

Paris.—That the stomach is a superfluous organ is the startling disclosure of Dr. Vincent Pancho, reported in the Academy of Medicine.

Affirming that he has successfully removed the stomach from a woman fifty years old who had continued to live happily in perfect health, he reports that the operation also cured her of cancer.

"The stomach's action is purely preliminary," stated Doctor Pancho. "The mechanism for the vital part of the digestion is in the small intestine with the intervention of the pancreatic juice and the bile. Therefore, providing the patient follows a light diet, the stomach can be dispensed with advantageously."

What Are the Pacific Studios?

Read These Excerpts From the Press of Southern California

Reprinted from the "Los Angeles Record," Sept. 26, 1921

(Editorial by Linton Wells)

Where would Los Angeles be were it not for the motion picture industry?

Well, the motion picture industry is the golden goose to Los Angeles—and nearly every other community in the world, for where the motion picture goes it makes money for someone. Not only this, but it is an institution in American home life.

And in this connection, mention might be made of the desire of San Francisco and other cities in that vicinity to entice away from Los Angeles, and elsewhere, motion picture capital, a fact proven by the erection of a very modern studio at San Mateo by the PACIFIC STUDIOS.

Hobart Bosworth is the first to avail himself of the opportunity to make pictures in the north.

And what is to prevent other from following? Invested capital here? That would be a minor consideration where the stability of the industry is at stake.

Los Angeles had better look to its "goose." Ten years ago there were approximately 7500 people within the limits of what is now Hollywood. Today over 60,000 populate the same district, an increase of over EIGHT HUNDRED PER CENT in ten years.

AND THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY IS RESPONSIBLE.

"Los Angeles Times" October 2, 1921

Motion pictures with an annual production of $150,000,000 lead all Los Angeles industries, according to figures on hand at the Chamber of Commerce.

The total annual production of 3300 industries listed for 1920 was placed at $788,652,885, and lined up as follows:

(The industries were then listed in order of their importance with the following estimated totals for moving pictures):

Capital invested .....$20,000,000
Weekly payroll ..... 500,000
Annual production .....150,000,000

Reprinted from the "Bakersfield Californian," Sept. 15, 1921

(Editorial)

The apparent monopoly that Los Angeles holds on motion picture production has long been viewed wistfully by other cities. That huge payroll, the lavish personal expenditures of movie stars with incomes from $100,000 to $1,000,000 are well worth the while of any city that takes an interest in the matter of bank clearings.

Reprinted from the "Pasadena Star News," June 10, 1921

San Francisco bids fair to get her share of the movie industry in this State, if the increasing numbers of companies "on location" is an indication.

Although San Francisco itself experiences more foggy days than does its beloved sister, Los Angeles, it is pointed out that the climate in the Santa Clara Valley is as much given to sunshine as Los Angeles, with the added feature of a great deal more vegetation in the hills and mountains.

The filming of a number of plays at the PACIFIC STUDIOS Corporation's plant at San Mateo will be begun within a few weeks, it is said.

The finest homes in this district have been thrown open to the movie people through the bureau of Assistance League of Northern California, which has arranged with the owners of fine town homes and country estates to turn over the rental money for the use of such places to various philanthropic organizations.

Construction of additional stage units at PACIFIC STUDIOS Corporation's 103-acre plant is under way. Builders are at work today under a penalty clause to complete within forty-five days the second unit of this huge and modern motion picture production plant.

The signatures of world famous producers are already attached to rental contracts for these stages as soon as completed.

Conservative estimates based upon contracts now available warrant the management in forecasting dividends during the first year of operation of a $10.00 minimum per share on the common stock.

The Board of Directors—composed of distinguished and successful business leaders of the Peninsula Section and San Francisco—announce this as their dividend policy.

The PACIFIC STUDIOS Corporation is divorced from the hazards of direct motion picture production. It does not produce pictures. It merely provides studios, laboratories and equipment for that purpose on a fixed rental and cost plus 10% basis.

Earnings will begin when the last nail is driven on each of the stages and will be multiplied into twelve-fold earnings when the twelve rent-in-advance stages are completed.

The Common Stock of PACIFIC STUDIOS Corporation is available at $100.00 per share to finance the construction of additional stage units.

These stages upon which contracts have already been let on foundations now built, will be snapped up by prominent producing companies who are EAGER and ANXIOUS to begin immediate work at PACIFIC STUDIOS.

Business logic—apply it for yourself—and the sound judgment of General Manager Isadore Bernstein, founder of Universal City, who is in full charge of production management, bespeak gratifying dividends on PACIFIC STUDIOS Common Stock.

The weekly payroll of the Hobart Bosworth Company was approximately $8,000 per week, from August 17 to October 8. This picture, "White Hands," cost in round figures $100,000 cash to produce.

MULTIPLY THESE FIGURES BY SIX (the number of pictures that the Hobart Bosworth Company could make within a year).

TAKE THAT TOTAL AND MULTIPLY IT BY TWELVE (the ultimate number of stages to be constructed to complete PACIFIC STUDIOS).

FOR GOOD MEASURE, ADD THE SMALLER COMPANIES WHO OCCUPY BUT A SMALL PORTION OF ONE OF THE HUGE STAGES (the Hal Stevens Company now at work at PACIFIC STUDIOS will make fourteen two-reel comedies for the Producers' Security Corporation and have an overhead of $2,500 per week).

This money is spent in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties

THE FACULTY

The editor of this column has intended for some time to tell the public something of why we have a fine school. That something, or one of the reasons, is the governing and teaching force. Their spirit of good-will, harmony, and helpfulness is the admiration of us all. Always ready to help us, and similarly always ready to help each other. So, as we say in geometry, Q. E. D.

S. S. F. TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

We take the liberty of reporting the meeting of the South San Francisco Teachers' Association, held recently, or rather that portion overheard through a crack in the door. It seems that nearly everybody had answered present at roll call, and, after various delegates had given their reports, the excellent president, Miss Helen Carmody, called for nominations of officers for next year. Amid much enthusiasm the popular and lovable Miss Caroline Reed was unanimously chosen president by the three schools—grammar, junior high, and high school. Mrs. Standley and Miss Price were then elected delegates and Miss Shaw, secretary-treasurer.

MEETING OF HIGH FRESHIES.

The high freshmen will hold their monthly meeting at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday. All of the high freshmen are expected to be there to pay their class dues and also their student body dues. The high freshmen expect to have a hundred per cent membership in the student body.

STUDENT BODY MEETING.

It was a pleasure on Monday morning to be present at the student body meeting, which was spirited and yet dignified, never descending to the boisterousness which is too often seen in high schools. The opening address was made by Principal L. E. Adams. He told how he attended the superintendents' convention at Coronado, and that he found our school not only possessing most of the good features of other schools but in several instances was in advance of them. We always enjoy hearing our principal speak.

The matter of student body dues was taken up. It was planned to have all classes show 100 per cent membership at the next meeting. It is no great wonder if the juniors and seniors are paid up, for there are four students in the senior class and six in the junior, while the sophomores are more than twenty strong and in this class all have paid excepting a few who, for financial reasons, are not members of the association.

SOPHOMORES WIN BASKET-BALL GAME FROM HI FRESHIES

Monday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock the sophomores and high freshmen played their first interclass basketball game. The freshmen were certain of victory, and were not afraid to say so. But lo and behold the freshmen when the sophomores were finished with them! The freshmen, nevertheless, put up a strong fight.

The game was fast and full of pep. It ended in favor of the sophomores, with the score 17 to 28.

EPISCOPAL CONGREGATION HEARS TALK ON PROHIBITION

A good congregation attended the Episcopal church last Sunday, when the vicar preached on the subject, "New Wine in Old Bottles."

The Rev. E. H. Molony said, in part: "In discussing this subject, present-day circumstances compel me to consider the attitude of our Lord toward the use of wine, as indicated in His discourse and conduct on this and other occasions. It is shown by His first miracle, when He turned water into wine; by His contrast of Himself and John the Baptist, and by His use of wine in the Last Supper."

"The drink question is as old as the human race, from the time when Noah 'planted a vineyard, and drank of the wine, and was drunken,' unto our own day. The religion of the whole Bible stands for positive virtue of life, not for mere negation of this or that individual sin, and is expressed in the words of Saint Paul: 'Be not deceived, neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor abusers of themselves with man, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdom of God.'"

"My text is more directly on the infusion of modern ideas into ancient institutions and forms. Forms change, and institutions must be adapted to existing conditions, else they become defunct and die. Evil ever adapts itself, and so must good, and ancient violence is substituted by present-day passive resistance."

"Passive resistance is often more destructive than open violence. Poison gas will explode as surely as fermenting wine. Present-day opposition to spiritual truth and moral standard, through the flagrant neglect of public worship, is more destructive of religion than when they stoned the prophets, for 'The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church.' The religious apathy of society is more deadly than the spectacular incidents of sensational newspaper exposures. The incident only indicates corrupt conditions. The evil continues to spread in the body politic, and what happened in the case of the exposed individual is threatening the sons and daughters of us all. Men and women, fathers and mothers, who contribute thought, no time, no effort to spiritual interests, are contributing to the moral delinquency of their community, and their passive opposition will exact its toll in broken homes, broken lives and broken hearts."

"Our only hope is the religion of Jesus Christ."

A Pernicious Influence.
Frederick had discovered "Treasure Island" the other day and devoured it in one blissful feast, lasting from breakfast until bedtime, when he was forcibly pried loose from the book.

He was obviously in a trance as he undressed, but still his demure mamma was not exactly prepared for the variation which he sprung when he came to say his prayers.

MANY HEAR FIRST SERMON OF SERIES AT M. E. CHURCH

Last Sunday the Rev. C. L. Peck preached a sermon at St. Paul's Methodist Church that was the first of a series addressed to young people. A large congregation heard the address, in which Mr. Peck spoke upon "A Dozen Don'ts for Boys." The points were as follows:

First—Don't call your father "the old man" or your mother "the old woman."

Second—Don't forget that smoking cigarettes and drinking never made a man out of a boy, but fools out of men.

Third—Don't try to see how quick you can get a thing done, but how well. In other words, don't be a clock watcher and a whistle jumper.

Fourth—Don't forget that it is better to chase baseballs than highballs.

Fifth—Don't kick the fellow climbing above you.

Sixth—Don't forget to spell pray occasionally without an "r."

Seventh—Don't fail to treat the other fellow's sister as you would have him treat yours.

Eighth—Don't fall in love with a girl because she is a good looker, or a good dresser, and a good dancer.

Ninth—Don't forget that honesty is better than shrewdness.

Tenth—Don't think that you can drop a nickel into the slot and get an education, a position, or a fortune.

Eleventh—Don't live for self or sin.

Twelfth—Don't forsake the church of your mother, nor the God of your father.

Next Sunday the pastor will speak on a dozen "don'ts" for girls.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS TALK ON COMMUNITY CENTER WORK

The Woman's Club met Thursday, October 6th, Mrs. E. C. Peck occupying the president's chair in the place of Mrs. E. H. Molony, resigned.

Miss Cheesborough, vice-chairman of the Red Cross of San Mateo county, made a plea for the war-time enthusiasm for this organization, outlining the peace needs and activities.

Miss Caroline L. Fiedler, county community organizer, gave a splendid talk on the benefits accruing to a community from having an established center with supervised playgrounds, where the instructor arouses and holds the interest of the children by giving every one a share in the games, thus preventing the bully from "lording it over" the others. Dances for the young people under the supervision of patronesses are a great success in centers formed in Pescadero and Halfmoon Bay. Miss Fiedler said, "You cannot afford to allow your children to go outside of their own town for their amusements."

A motion was made and carried to have Miss Fiedler give a talk in the near future before the Chamber of Commerce of South San Francisco.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

PROPER CARE WILL PREVENT MUCH FOOD SPOILAGE IN HOME

"A woman can throw out with a teaspoon what a man brings in with a shovel." Food that spoils after it is brought into the home kitchen usually is a needless waste. A good deal of food spoilage could be prevented by proper care. Spoilage is due to the presence of bacteria, which multiply rapidly in moderately warm temperatures and in dampness. Perishables should be bought in small daily amounts only.

Wrap in Fresh Paper

When meat and poultry are brought in the house, exchange the wrapping paper for clean parchment, and place on a clean plate in the refrigerator or cold storeroom. Fish should not be stored in the icebox, as it imparts its flavor to other foods, particularly to milk and butter. It is better to buy just enough fish for a meal and have no left-overs to dispose of.

Pitchers and bottles for milk should be scalded before the milk is put in. Milk should always be covered and kept in the coolest part of the refrigerator, at a temperature of 50 deg. F. or lower, if possible.

Soiled eggs spoil quickly. Insist on getting clean eggs, and keep them cool. Do not wash an egg until just before using; water removes a coating on the shell which hinders microorganisms from getting into the contents.

Fats and oils are best stored in the dark. Butter absorbs flavors and should be well covered. A stone crock with a lid serves well.

Fresh vegetables and fruits should be kept clean, well ventilated, and, if possible, at a temperature between 60 and 40 deg. F. Decayed ones should be frequently sorted out. Very often the decayed portion may be cut away and the rest of the fruit or vegetable used at once. Wilted leaf vegetables sometimes may be freshened by soaking in water just before using. All vegetable and fruits, especially those to be eaten raw, should be thoroughly washed in running water before they are used. The loss of flavor and texture is very slight and is made up for by the removal of bacteria and possible spray residue. Decaying fruits and vegetables always attract flies.

Moist cooked foods made with milk, eggs, meats, or fish are excellent breeding places for harmful microorganisms, including many which cause poisoning. Chilled left-overs should be used as soon as possible. Left-overs of meat pie, dishes made with cream sauce, soft custard, boiled dressing, and dressing made with cream must be carefully kept and handled and promptly used. They often cause serious poisoning before they taste or smell spoiled. Boiled rice, hominy, and other cereals also spoil quickly.

Scald Bread Box Weekly

Bread and cakes should be kept in a ventilated box. Hot bread should not be wrapped immediately. The moisture of fresh bread causes molds to form. The bread box should be scalded once a week, wiped dry, and sunned.

Crackers and cookies lose their crispness by absorbing moisture from the air. They should be kept in airtight boxes, wrapped in parchment or paraffin paper, if possible.

All dry groceries must be kept dry and clean and in insect-proof containers. Cereals and flavors should be bought in small quantities in the summer, as they tend to develop weevils even when well cared for. Corn meal from which the "germ" has not been removed turns rancid with keeping. Air-tight containers are necessary for tea, coffee, spices, and baking powder. Ground roast coffee loses flavor rapidly. Do not lay in a large stock of coffee unless it can be roasted and ground at home. The fat in chocolate may turn rancid, so keep it cool and dark.

Canned goods should be stored in a dark, cool place to prevent fading. Examine vegetables within a fortnight after canning to detect spoilage. A little mold on the top of jelly or rich preserves is not dangerous, but canned vegetables which look, smell, or taste at all spoiled should never be eaten.

CHOOSE GOOD BEDDING FOR HEALTH AND COMFORT

The bed is the most important piece of furniture in a bedroom. If only a limited amount may be spent in furnishings, it is wise to economize elsewhere, so that a good mattress and springs may be purchased.

The mattress should first be protected by an unbleached muslin slip which can be washed occasionally. Next comes a light-weight quilted pad, also washable, for further protection and smoothness. This can be bought ready made or made of muslin and cotton batting, or an old light-colored quilt or cotton blanket may be used.

The quality of the sheets and pillow cases depends on how much one has to invest. Home-made sheets and pillow-cases have the advantage of being fitted to a particular bed, and often the materials wear better, but ready-made ones of good quality are sometimes more economical to buy. Sheets should be from 24 to 36 inches wider and longer than the mattress, so that the ends and sides can be generously tucked in, and the top of the upper one turned down to keep the blankets clean. The hem at the top of a sheet should be at least 2½ inches, and at the bottom from ¾ to 1 inch. Machine hemstitching makes a pretty finish for pillowcases and the wider hem of a sheet. Seamless tubing can be bought for pillowcases.

Soft, fluffy blankets, containing a large proportion of good quality wool, are generally considered more comfortable and also most durable if given proper care. Many reliable manufacturers state the percentage of wool on a card attached to the blanket. Cotton blankets, when new, are in many cases as warm as wool, but they tend to become matted with wear and washing and consequently less warm. If a blanket is chosen with a colored border, the border should be of the same quality wool as the rest of the blanket.

Comfortables of wool or cotton batting covered first with cheesecloth and then with an outer covering of pretty light-weight material are generally fashioned pieced quilts are often needed in the severe weather. Old-fashioned, but not very warm, considering their weight. Striped dimity bedspreads with pillow shams to match are deservedly popular because they are dainty, easy to launder, durable, and inexpensive. Having two spreads permits a bed to be kept always fresh.

Also the love of money is the root of much industry.

The automobile gets people out doors and into hospitals.

The more automobiles the more bitter the fight to be coroner.

Even when you teach an old dog a new trick, he's still an old dog.

Enemies are valuable at times, but friends are valuable all the time.

Too many are willing to meet temptation more than half way.

If you "step on the gas," somebody is likely to step on your carcass.

What every man knows is that men critics of women's clothes are lying.

Poverty is no disgrace, but it's hard to convince your creditors that it isn't.

A generous man will always have plenty of friends—until he goes "broke."

The time to get out of the business you're in is when the clock becomes as important as the pay envelope.

It's a pretty safe guess when a business man doesn't advertise, he has something he's ashamed to advertise.

USE STORAGE FOR FURS

West Virginia Professor Making Experiments, Asserts Heat Kills Moths Quickly.

Morgantown, W. Va.—"Hot" storage as opposed to "cold" storage for many things affected by insects, but not by heat, may be realized soon if the experiments of Prof. L. M. Pearls of the department of entomology of the University of West Virginia prove entirely satisfactory.

Professor Pearls has met with a great degree of success in showing the practicability of hot storage for such articles as carpets, clothing, particularly woollens and furs, as well as cereals, dried fruit products and other materials unaffected by dry heat.

Professor Pearls has used grain and carpet beetles and other insects of a similar nature in demonstrating that they do not develop at a constant temperature of 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

He has concluded that hot storage with a uniform and constant temperature of 100 degrees would prove more effective than cold storage in many cases.

"RED" IS ONLY A PAINTER

Police Are "Scary" When They Find Him Counting the Windows in Jail.

New York.—Patrolman Ward and Rattigan in front of police headquarters guarding it from a possible attack by Reds, saw a man with a bundle under his arm stop in front of the building and scrutinize it from cellar to roof. The stranger began counting every window in the building.

"What's the big idea?" asked Ward and Rattigan, each keeping their eyes on the bundle.

"Oh, don't be alarmed, officers," said the stranger. "I'm a painter and expect to get the contract for painting this building and just wanted to see how many window frames there were. Here's my card."

Ward and Rattigan pinched the bundle a couple of times and finding the contents very soft, allowed the stranger to depart. "Elias Schwartz, General Painter," was on the card the stranger gave them.
